NAAC is inspecting the higher education institutions with the framed guidelines and criterias and given grade according to the performance of the institutions based on the guidelines. Before March 2019, Arts and Science colleges and Teacher Education Colleges have the same format for accrediting process. After 2019, NAAC recognized the teacher education colleges as professional colleges, and separate new manual in online format for submission of SSR was introduced. In the new format, only 36 colleges got accredited in the country (based on NAAC statistics in the website).

Requirements Needed by NAAC in Library

Library Automation

All the teacher education colleges should adopt the library automation with standard library software and all resources including the books, journals, back volumes, dissertations and multimedia resources should be uploaded in the software. The library should provide computer based services to the students and teachers. The institution provides brief outline of the automation facilities and uploade the bills, web link in the SSR submission through online.

Online Public Access Catalogue (OPAC) with Remote Access

During covid-19 period, students may not able to access the library and their facilities. In this aspect NAAC added in the SSR new online manual that all the institutions must install the facility for accessing the library catalogue through online with the help library software. Number of colleges have already installed the library software without remote access facility. But only some standard libraries have installed the softwares with remote access module. In the SSR, the institutions need to explain in paragraph about this OPAC facility.

Subscription of E-Resources

Institutions are expected to enhance the subscription of e-resources including e-books, e-journals and databases. E-Shodhsindu having different module namely UGC-INFLIBNET-N-LIST provides the best e-resources for teacher education colleges and arts and science colleges. The colleges submit the subscription letter and receipt through SSR. They also expects e-shodhganga module of e-theses and e-dissertations, but these modules are free and open access.

Conclusion

As the gateways of knowledge, libraries play a fundamental role in every institution. They are considered as the heart of any institutions, since the bombardment of knowledge is possible only with the help of libraries. In a teacher education institution, the role of library is still crucial, because here the future teachers are trained and moulded. The quantity and quality of libraries with technology integration must be the need of the hour and it should be the face of any standard institution. With this view, the present paper shared the role of libraries in teacher education institutions with special reference to the expectations of NAAC. It also highlighted all the needed information based on the facilities available at St. Xavier's College of Education. This is not the end but a new beginning for a better library for the better society and for a better nation. It's our duty to update the library facilities as per the changes that takes place.
